National Institute of Arts and Letters
A. H. THORNDIKE, Secretary

Address:
COLUMBIA UNIVERSITY
NEW YORK

February 1, 1919.

Sir Robert Alexander Falconer,
President of the University of Toronto,
Toronto, Canada.

My dear Sir:

In connection with the celebration of the centenary of the birth of James Russell Lowell by the American Academy, February 19-22, the National Institute of Arts and Letters desires the honor of your presence at a performance of "Washington", a ballad play by Percy MacKaye, on Thursday, February 20th, and also at a luncheon to be held at the Ritz-Carlton Hotel immediately following the public exercises on Saturday, February 22nd.

In order to facilitate arrangements, I am enclosing memoranda in regard to the two events and a card on which I hope you will indicate the number of places which you desire reserved for yourself and ladies both at the matinee and at the luncheon.

Very truly yours,

A. H. Thorndike

Secretary.

Professor A. H. Thorndike,
Columbia University,
New York City.

Dear Professor Thorndike:

I have to thank you for your letter enclosing invitations to be present at the performance of Washington on February 20th and the luncheon at the Ritz-Carlton on Saturday, Feb. 22nd. I am sending you a card asking you to be good enough to reserve one place for me on each occasion.

Yours sincerely,

President.
